RAILWAY ENTERPRISE IN JAPAN Mr. Sato, Chairman of the special committee on rallway projects, gives the following statistics

The mileage of existing lines is 1,933 in. 4) oh: The total capital on these lines is 11.289,622 Of these the Government lines are 559 m

49 ch. in length and cost 33.103.252 you. The private lines are 1,375 m. 41 ch. in. length The lines under construction are twelve in number and have a total mileage of 221 m. Il

There are also five lines with provisional charters, whose total laugth will be 92 m. 35 ch., with a capital of 3.034.090 von.

There are also 815 m. 55 ch. of projected lines, on which the Railway Council has decided to grant provisional charters. Their aggregate capital is 46.487,343 yen.

The capital of the lines applied for at present amount to about to 10,000,000 ven. The total capital proposed to be expended on railways, including those under construction by the Sanyo, Kyushu, and other companies amoun to 78,000,000 ven.

The Government projected lines will be constructed at the annual cost of 5,000,000 yen. Purchases of rail and rolling stock from abroad will annually be 3,600,000 yen. That is, supposing the projected private lines will be constructed in seven years or at the rate of 160 miles a year, foreign parchases at 15,000 yen per mile will be 2,400,000 yea, while the annual will consume at the same rate 1,200,000 year of
